MINISTER FOR THE ENVIRONMENT

Copenhagen
2 November 2005

Climate change is one of the biggest global challenges for the present and future generations. Global warming knows no borders and no one nation can resolve it alone. Experiencing the serious consequences of climate change in the Arctic region as host of the informal ministerial in Ilulissat, Greenland assured me that action is needed now.

The report of the Climate Dialogue at Pocantio offers a very valid contribution to our common efforts to develop an inclusive strategy beyond 2012 towards a truly global response to climate change.
